

Pappas Telecasting Companies' 'donation' of $325,000 in airtime to Republican candidates in certain areas is yet another example of a powerful media group abusing its privileged access to the public airwaves.

It is imperative voters have as much information as possible to make informed choices. The public must have faith in the media to present honest, unbiased information. We cannot trust the information based on special interests.

Pappas uses the public airwaves free of charge and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Pappas' actions are legally questionable and cast doubt on whether Pappas truly intends to serve the public interest. Their actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. Further, they show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than just a returned postcard. Thank you.
